11. Read the passage to review the vocabulary you have learned. Answer the questions that follow.

Revisionist history promotes a new view of chronological events, usually for political purposes. Radical revisionists diminish the credibility of a previous view and may even deny that certain events happened at all. Some revisionist Asian historians have ignored long-standing conflicts among native peoples and have explained Asia's conflicts as a consequence of colonialism and its class-oriented cultural milieu. Good motives among the revisionists—to promote reconciliation among traditional rivals—don't excuse bad history. History is valuable only if its stories coincide with verifiable facts. From far away, an observer may see clearly that a given conflict had nothing to do with colonialism and a lot to do with 1,000-year-old rivalries. But this is not likely to matter much to a confirmed revisionist historian. At its core, revisionism—by the government in particular—is an Orwellian exercise in thought control, not honest science.
Bonus Structure*— Good motives don't excuse bad history. Even though revisionists are trying to achieve a good social goal, they shouldn't distort history to do so.
Which sentence best expresses the essential information of this passage?

A) Historians constantly revise history in the light of new facts.

B) Revisionist history is less concerned with accuracy than with promoting a point of view.

C) A new way of studying history, revisionism, has been very successful in Asia.

D) Revisionist history is the only way to accurately relate events.

12. Why does the author of this reading mention Asia?

A) because it offers an example of attempts at revisionist history

B) because a civil war occurred between revisionists and others

C) because it is the birthplace of revisionist history

D) because it was colonized by Europeans and needs a revisionist history
