ENGLISH GRAMMAR TESTS

Grammar and Structure Revision MCQ Test With Answers – Odd One Out Exercise 1

10 questions · Choose the correct answer. Online test and answer key with explanations:
https://englishtestsonline.com/grammar-and-structure-revision-mcq-test-with-answers-odd-one-out-exercise-1/

Name: _____ Date: _____ Score: _____ / 10

1. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) Last year, tens of thousands of people claimed that they had sighted a UFO in the region.

B) Houses have roofs. All sorts of roof construction are possible to the carpenter who is able and willing.

C) These peoples are not indigenous Europeans. They are the descendants of several migrant tribes who settled in these parts in the tenth century.

D) A dog is good friend to a man.

E) I come from northern Turkland. She comes from the South. This summer, I will be travelling south; and she will be travelling north.

2. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) I can write in ink or with a pencil.

B) Fruit is very good for the brain. Apples and other fresh fruits are indispensable for your health and work wonders for your teeth.

C) Most later breeds of these sheep now give us some really superior quality wool.

D) Coffee is a drink. Tea is another drink.

E) Put a lemon in your soup instead of salt.

3. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) What a pity your friend couldn't come!

B) What thoughtless of him!

C) What a clever boy you are!

D) Oh, God! There's no limit to how stupid one can get!

E) How gracefully she walks!

4. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) He took up swimming as a sport last year.

B) I should like a house in a country.

C) "May I walk you home?" was the next question he asked.

D) The bodies of most animals (all except sponges) are made up of cells organized into tissues.

E) I am fatuously fond of raw kangaroo meat sprinkled with parmesan cheese.

5. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) Just between you and me, it's her I'm afraid of, not him.

B) Do you really believe him – now that you know he is the root cause of all that trouble – is more suitable for the job than I am?

C) What! Me accept a present from him! I never even speak to him!

D) Surely, it's him you mean, not me!

E) I think you're far prettier than them all.

6. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) A club for women = A womens' club

B) The parents of all the other boys = All the other boys' parents

C) The glass of someone else = Someone else's glass

D) The name of my sister-in-law = My sister-in-law's name

E) The son of Pharaoh's daughter = Pharaoh's daughter's son

7. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) That's too much money for a simple toy like that!

B) The wind proved strong enough to blow the roof off.

C) This soup is too hot for me to drink it.

D) I don't have enough money on me to pay the bill.

E) He is too unpopular to win the elections.

8. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) You may come and see me any day, but you must come some day.

B) "Please give me some more." "I'm sorry, but there isn't some left."

C) Didn't you do some work yesterday? I feel certain you did.

D) You aren't expecting anyone to call, are you?

E) These aren't my books. Did I take some of yours by mistake?

9. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) What were you two talking about out there in the garden?

B) Can you tell us how many of those aren't yours?

C) Who phoned this morning? You hear me? I'm asking you who phoned this morning.

D) Sergen is a great player. One never knows which feet he is going to kick the ball with?

E) Who told you not to do it? Why should they do such a thing?

10. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) He is much less cooperative than we had expected he would be.

B) She's not so ugly as you said she was.

C) She is so stupid as I thought she would be.

D) You'd be less well-off if you were married and had children.

E) It is safer to tease a kitten than wake a sleeping lion.

Finished? Check your answers online
Get your score with instant feedback, and download the answer key with explanations, on the test page:
englishtestsonline.com · scan the code for this test
englishtestsonline.com