ENGLISH GRAMMAR TESTS

Grammar and Structure Revision MCQ Test With Answers – Odd One Out Exercise 2

10 questions · Choose the correct answer. Online test and answer key with explanations:
https://englishtestsonline.com/grammar-and-structure-revision-mcq-test-with-answers-odd-one-out-exercise-2/

Name: _____ Date: _____ Score: _____ / 10

1. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) I had my car repaired for me yesterday.
B) We don't have them cleaned very often.
C) Have someone bring it to you on a tray.
D) Why don't you have it brought to you on a tray?
E) Will you have it seen to soon?

2. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) All junior officers are to report to the Colonel at once.
B) I thought you were supposed to go and see your boss this afternoon.
C) Do I have to show my pass every time I go in?
D) You've got to give it back to me before you leave.
E) No, you haven't to salute him every time you see him.

3. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) You needn't have bought one of these; we really need one.
B) They didn't need to push it into the corner, because it was there already.
C) You needn't have said anything; if you hadn't, he would never have known about it.
D) You needn't have brought any food; but since you have, let's eat it now.
E) We didn't need to spend any money at all, which was a great relief for us all.

4. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) The maids used to wash the floors once a week.
B) Once the floors were washed by the maids for a whole week.
C) There used to be a separate washing day for the floors.
D) The maids refused to wash the floors twice a week.
E) The floors were used to being washed once a week.

5. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) "He wasn't late last night." "No, he wasn't, was he?"
B) They don't understand what we are saying, do they?
C) There never was any talk of it, was there?
D) "You're rather late." "Yes, I am a bit, aren't I?"
E) Doing all these exercises will do you a lot of good, won't they?

6. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) What have you been doing while I've been out?
B) Have you ever been beyond Erzurum?
C) What good films have you seen during this past fortnight?
D) How long have you been seeing him again?
E) You have been smoking at least five cigarettes since you came.

7. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) I generally do wear a hat in winter.
B) I nearly always have to do it myself.
C) I have seen rarely a worse piece of workmanship.
D) He always does say rude things like that.
E) He only lent it to me.

8. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) As he was madly dashing down the steps, he suddenly slipped on a banana peel and came tumbling down.
B) When we were living in that house we had three servants.
C) We went fishing every day when we were in Göcek.
D) When the war broke out, we have been living in Mersin.
E) You were wearing a new hat when I met you yesterday.

9. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) You'll have noticed from my lecture how complicated this subject really is.
B) I take it that this is the right way of doing it.
C) Am I supposed to think that this'll be the very last time?
D) I shall have done a lot of work while he will be asleep.
E) I take it for granted that you'll finish the job on time.

10. Choose the sentence that is grammatically or structurally incorrect.

A) The valley had been flooded a year ago and it still showed some signs of it.
B) I felt certain that they were going to ask me what had happened to their friend.
C) She was wondering why I hadn't visited her before.
D) It was my brother who had broken the window.
E) He jumped up as if he'd been stung.