Explanations

1. (Please note: The following questions are part of a cloze test. They are interrelated, meaning that the information provided in each question is connected to the others.)

USING YOUR ACCOUNT

At regular intervals, perhaps monthly, you will receive a _____ from the bank, giving details of each _____ (money you put in) and _____ (money you take out).
✔ D) statement
This question is about the first gap. A statement is a document the bank sends you regularly, for example every month, that lists all the money going into and out of your account. Not balance, because the balance is only the amount of money in the account, not a document you receive.

2. At regular intervals, perhaps monthly, you will receive a _____ from the bank, giving details of each _____ (money you put in) and _____ (money you take out).
✔ B) deposit
This question is about the second gap. The clue is in the brackets: money you put in. Money you put into your account is a deposit, e.g. I made a deposit of £200 yesterday.

3. At regular intervals, perhaps monthly, you will receive a _____ from the bank, giving details of each _____ (money you put in) and _____ (money you take out).
✔ A) withdrawal
This question is about the third gap. The clue is in the brackets: money you take out. Money you take out of your account is a withdrawal, e.g. I made a withdrawal from the cash machine. Not deposit, because a deposit is money you put in.

4. If you're not sure how much money you have in your account, you can just go to your bank and ask what your _____ is.
✔ A) balance
Your balance is the amount of money in your account at a particular time, e.g. My balance is £350. Not statement, because a statement is the document that lists all your payments, not just the amount you have.

5. If you have to make a regular payment, like rent, you can ask the bank to pay this amount for you automatically. This arrangement is called a _____.
✔ C) standing order
A standing order is an instruction to your bank to pay a fixed amount to someone automatically at regular times, e.g. for rent every month. Not deposit, because a deposit is money you put into your account.
